

Understanding the Oppressed

Here is the all-in-one place for links to pages if you're still learning about different oppressed groups.

There are gay white men that are racist. There are cis black men that are transphobic. White women have excluded black women from their feminist spaces. There are different forms of oppression we of the “marginalized” face and we believe it's important we recognize we can oppress each other. Recognizing intersectionality is very important to us and so we think of this page as a resource to help us understand EACH OTHER as well.
